CNCF Editorial Update

As you may already be aware to help celebrate the 20th

22nd Cochrane Colloquium Update

Are you interested in attending the 2014 Cochrane Colloquium (21-26 September, Hyderabad, India) but in need of financial support? A limited number of stipends to help cover registration, travel, accommodation and other expenses associated with attending the 2014 Cochrane Colloquium are available for Cochrane consumers and contributors from developing countries.

Consumer and Developing Country stipend applications are now open and close 19 May 2014. For further information please visit <http://colloquium.cochrane.org/s/tipends>

The call for abstracts for oral presentations and workshops has now closed. The CNCF has submitted two presentations. Fingers crossed we hear some positive news shortly.

anniversary of the Cochrane Collaboration last year, the CNCF (with the help of its members) was involved in developing a number of editorials that were published in a range of Journals. The focus of the editorials was on how the Cochrane Collaboration has made a major contribution to nursing care. The majority of editorials have been published and a list is provided below. If your name is not on the list and you did develop an editorial please note there are still a number to be published. Again a huge thanks to all those members who participated in this work.
